Surnames: Goodwin, Swartz, Keene, Knapp, Persing

Query: We have a great-aunt, Charlotte (nee GOODWIN) SWARTZ, who was raised in Delta, Ohio, and who married Silas Allen SWARTZ. In the 1900 census, they were listed as residents of the city of Fayette. The Goodwins and known Swartzs are buried in Greenlawn Cemetery in Delta. Sometime between 1900 and early 1903, family folklore says Charlotte died after being trampled by a runaway horse. We know Silas remarried in 1903 (to Mrs. Adelaide BRINK), so sometime between the census of 1900 and the remarriage in 1903, Charlotte died. No grave has been found, and no death record. My question would be: since her death was so tragic, she probably wasn't listed on an obituary page -- it was probably front page news. Being from the area, even if the accident took place elsewhere, her death should have made the papers. What newspapers would I search and which library would be most likely to do an intralibrary loan to Minnesota to search the microfilm of old newspapers? Does anyone have other ideas as to where to search for Charlotte & Silas' grave?
